Revolutionary Embodiment Forum

Dear Member,

The Revolutionary Embodiment Forum is designed to be a safe joy + justice place for bodies from all different kinds of backgrounds in life. We are committed to providing an environment that is free of discrimination, harassment, and intimidation for members.

Description of the Forum: The Revolutionary Embodiment Forum provides a courageous, communal, creative, and safe embodiment environment.

What Information We Collect: The Revolutionary Embodiment Forum will collect the information on this form as registration information for the forum. When members participate in the forum, they sign in so that the Embodiment Forum knows how many people show up and how often. Also, members in the Embodiment Forum will have the ability to share their joys, outcry for justice, and creative projects. These projects may contain for-profit or non-profit endeavors. The Embodiment Forum is password-protected, meaning only Embodiment Forum members and Mohawkmomma Studio team members have passwords and can look at the site.

How We Use the Information: The Embodiment Forum uses the information collected to create a list of members in the Forum and how often they participate, and to allow members to share the passions of their noticing, nurturing, and embodying the calling upon their lives and the projects they create. The Embodiment Forum will not transfer or sell this information to any third party.

Warm regards,
Andrea L. Palmer
